DETAILED ACTION

This action is responsive to the amendment filed 02-17-2004, which has been entered. Claims 1-2 and 4-12 are currently pending.

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: In page 11, it is not clear how the clearance is formed between the resilient member and the outer peripheral surface of the ring assemblies. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-2 and 4-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not provide any description as to how the clearance is obtained and be maintained during operation. It appears that the resilient member is suspended in a space between the outer peripheral surface of the metal rings and the edge of the slot. It would not have been enabling for one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a clearance between the ring and the edge of the slot without providing supports for the resilient member. In addition, it would not be obvious to make the inner peripheral surface innermost resilient members set larger than the radially outer peripheral surface of the outermost ring of each of the pair of metal ring assemblies, without producing the clearance therebetween.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 02-17-2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument regarding the clearance between the inner surface of the retainer and the outer surface of the metal ring assembly is not supported by the specification and is not an inherent issue. Applicant argued that due the set clearance the retainer would tend to fall due to gravity in a static condition. However, no explanation was given as to how the retainer will return to its original position when the belt is in operation. It should be noted that the retainer is not in contact with any other element and even in a running condition it would have been impossible for the retainer to rotate in unison with the pulleys and therefore gravity will cause the retainer to fail in spite of weather the belt is in a static condition or not. Such a belt will be provided with constant noise and fluctuation in vibration because of the free movement of the retainer. Upon further consideration, claims 2 and 11 fall into the same category as claim 1 because if the retainer is set longer then a clearance will inherently exist between the retainer and the ring assembly.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
